Sangeet Natak Akademi, the national academy for performing arts in India recognizes eight traditional dance forms as classical forms, while other sources and scholars recognize more. These dance forms have their roots in the Sanskrit text Natyashastra, and the religious performance arts of Hinduism.

Folk dances are numerous in number and style and vary according to the local tradition of the respective state, ethnic or geographic regions. Contemporary dances include refined and experimental fusions of classical, folk and western dance forms. The dancing traditions of India have influence not only over the dances of the whole of South Asia but also of South-East Asia.
